PROJECT 31

Mission: Renew, Restore and Reunite

Our Mission is to redefine the view on family reunification and rehabilitation services with Restorative Justice Solutions. The broken hearted can be restored one step at a time.

How? This orchestrated using the Healing Communities model of the Anne E. Casey Foundation. By, balancing justice with mercy.

The Annie E. Casey Foundation, seeks to engage congregations in restoration and healing people in their own congregations affected by crime, incarceration, and reintegration by transforming hearts and minds, creating a sense of welcome inclusion, reducing stigma and shame, and building networks of support that start in houses of worship and expand to transform the community at large.

Vision: Re-unification through Restoration

Our Vision is to see Victims, Offenders and Community Members Renewed, Restored and Reunified with the emphasizes on repairing the breach caused by crime.

Restorative Justice principles results can be transformational. Esther Project 31's belief is God can restore a man or woman with Restorative partnership collaboration for family reunification. Our organization serves as catalyst to bridge the gaps that divides our families and communities of True Human Services.

The Foundation aims to reduce barriers to successful reentry and reintegration and rehabilitation services thereby make families and communities safer and stronger. We recognize the unique role the faith community can play in addressing these challenges.

The Esther Project 31: Pledge

This Healing Community initiative supports family reunification after rehabilitation services ends. Our ministry is designed for men, women, and children in crisis situations who are seeking faith-based practices.

For such a time as this: honesty, integrity, truth, and compassion will lead us into a brighter future by a united effort to bring about change for Healing Communities.
